RUSSIANS ACCUSE U. S. OF COERCING DANUBE COUNTRIES

Content Seizure Of Vessels Constituted Pressure To Obtain Aims

VINANT URGES MEETING OF NATIONS CONCERNED

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Russia tonight accused the United States of direct interference in the international affairs of countries involved in traffic on the Danube.

The Soviet Union charged that the United States' refusal to return Yugoslav and Czech vessels held by American occupation authorities was made in order to "obtain her aims in southeastern Europe."

The Soviet blast came after the United States submitted a proposal to the United Nations economic and social council for a conference to be held between Russia, America and southeastern European states in Vienna not later than November 1 to resolve problems now obstructing the assumption of international traffic on the Danube river.

U. S. Delegate John G. Winant told the council that the Yugoslav and Czech vessels, which he acknowledged were being held by the Americans, would be returned when some working agreement had been reached between the United States and Soviet occupation authorities and the governments of interested states "which will permit the unrestricted movement of those vessels throughout the entire course of the Danube."

Nikolai Feonov of Russia, lashing out at the United States, declared that the U. S. proposal asking the council to arrange a conference on the question was "put forward in terms of an ultimatum."

Asserting it was "obvious" that the United States does not intend to return these vessels, Feonov declared that the U. S. statement "constitutes a direct threat to the Yugoslav and Czech people."

"It is direct interference in the internal affairs of countries involved in traffic on the Danube," he said.

Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia submitted resolutions demanding that the council recommend to the U. S. that she return their vessels "without delay." The American occupation authorities, delegates for the two countries said, are holding 167 Yugoslav and 47 Czech vessels.

The council then adjourned until tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. (CDT) when discussion of the Danubian question will be resumed.

WORK ON PEACE PACTS HASTENED

Italian Treaty Remains Balked By Disagreement Over Trieste Controls

PARIS, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The European peace conference completed all but 10 clauses of the Italian peace treaty today as it drove hard for adjournment by the Oct. 15 deadline.

The 10 clauses, however, included three of a political nature on the big problem of Trieste, and there were indications that this issue might have to be shelved indefinitely. The other seven are economic clauses upon which agreement must be reached before the treaty can be sent to the plenary session for final approval.

At the end of this morning's meeting of the subcommittee for the Trieste question, the Italian delegate, Nicola Novikoff, proposed that it adjourn failure and send the whole question back to the Italian political commission.

He declared that no progress had been made on the fundamental problem—the degree of United Nations security council authority over the zone, the power of the governor and the role of the legislative assembly.

No action was taken on Novikoff's proposal, but the subcommittee's deadline for finishing its work is today.

Other commissions, however, are continuing their work.

SCOTTSBORO CASE NEGRO IS RELEASED ON PAROLE

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Clarence Norris, one of the "Scottsboro case" Negroes, has been freed from prison on parole, leaving only one still behind bars.

The state pardon-parole board announced Norris' release yesterday and that of the original nine Negroes, only Haywood Patterson remains in prison.

The Negroes, all from Alabama, were charged with raping two white women on a freight train on March 3, 1931. The first trial, held at Scottsboro, produced sentences of death in the electric chair for eight of the defendants.

These verdicts were overturned on appeal, and in final proceedings four were freed outright and four were convicted of rape and given prison terms. The ninth was sentenced for assaulting a deputy sheriff who was transferring him from one prison to another.

The parole board said Norris received a life sentence and was paroled recently after serving nine years.

San Antonio Flooded By Torrential Rains

Six Known Dead, Hundreds Missing As Swollen Streams Inundate City; Rising Water Strands Thousands In Downtown Areas

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 27.—(AP)—A flash flood, followed by torrential rains, took at least six lives, inundated much of picturesque San Antonio and caused property damage estimated in the millions of dollars today.

An army bomber dropped emergency rafts to an undetermined number of persons marooned on rooftops south of here late today as the crest of the flood surged toward the Gulf of Mexico.

Chief of Police Bruce Weatherly said that while only six bodies had been recovered, there were at least seven other persons unaccounted for. This included four military policemen previously listed as dead.

C. O. Sawtell, president of the Insurance Exchange, estimated local damage would be between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000. Police Capt. Fred Littlepage thought it would be nearer $3,000,000.

At the height of the storm, water swirled inches-deep about the famous Alamo but did not get inside.

Many persons still are marooned and a fleet of boats is being sent to San Antonio from Austin to aid in rescue work. The Red Cross sent relief workers from St. Louis to augment the San Antonio staff. Six U. S. O. centers were equipped to feed refugees.

Residents on the San Antonio river below the city were warned to evacuate as the flood swirled southward. The danger to San Antonio itself was not fully abated, although flood waters are draining from its streets.

Some six feet under water during the storm.

Olmos dam on the northern edge of the city is standing its severest test. Water is backed 35 feet deep behind it, 10 feet above what had been previously designated as the danger-line. Fire Captain Fred M. Garza said the dam "saved the city."

Highways leading to San Antonio are covered and many are closed. The state highway department said. Railroad service was halted. Airline schedules were disrupted.

Some looting occurred and Governor Coke Stevenson in Austin ordered state guardsmen. Chief of Police Weatherly ordered military police who had been placed at his disposal "not to deal gently" with offenders.

The flood followed a heavy rain Wednesday night, a cloudburst yesterday and continuing rain today.

The flood caught thousands of persons unprepared, and stranded downtown. Theater crowds surged into hotels, already packed to capacity.

Many persons were dragged from the swirling water of the ordinarily sluggish little stream that threads its way through the business district.

The flood washed away an estimated 2,000 head of livestock in packing house pens, aggravating an already short meat situation.

Monroe Teen Age Club To Open This Evening

Dance Orchestra And Snack Bar To Highlight Premiere Of New Youth Club In Remodeled Recreation Center

The Junior Chamber of Commerce Teen Age Club is prepared to open its doors tonight to the boys and girls of this community, it was announced today by Mr. J. R. Plaisance, general chairman of the Jaycee project.

The Teen Age Canteen will hold opening night activities at the Monroe Recreation Building on Catalpa street between the hours of 7:30-11 p. m. There will be no admission charge and all youngsters 13-18 are cordially invited to attend, Plaisance said.

Highlighting the premiere will be dancing to the music of Ben Burton and his orchestra, a 30 minute radio broadcast direct from the "rec" center, the opening of the snack bar and the "Teen Tavern" room, and a bubble gum blowing contest.

Plaisance, reporting on a meeting held yesterday of the five committee chairmen, stated that all committees have done a splendid job in planning and executing their work up to this point.

The program committee, headed by E. H. Scott, has arranged activities for the entire three and a half hour "show." The doors open at 7:30 p. m. and dancing will begin at 8 o'clock. The bubble gum contest will get underway about 8:15 when eliminations will be held to select semi-finalists. At 9 p. m. KNOE will broadcast a 30 minute program of the Teen Age Club activities. Included in this broadcast will be dance music by Ben Burton and his orchestra, interviews with teen-agers, contests, and a brief statement about the project. Various kinds of games will be going on during the evening.

One of the big attractions is sure to be the snack bar which will serve ice cream, malted milks, candy, sandwiches and soft drinks. These refreshments will be sold at nominal prices. One room has been designated as the "Teen-Age Tavern." Tables and chairs will be provided and this room has been attractively decorated with pennants, pictures and drapes. All preparations for this part of the project have been handled by the house committee.

INDIAN FESTIVITIES MARRED BY CONTINUOUS OPPRESSION

POLSON, Mont., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Tomorrow is American Indian Day, set aside to honor the Aborigines of this nation, but the country's 500,000 tribesmen aren't in a celebrating mood. They're peeved at Uncle Sam.

In this northwestern Montana flat-head Indian reservation community on the southern shore of vast Flathead Lake, young, well-educated Stephen de Mers, a Salish tribesman who is secretary of the American Indians of Montana, tells you:

"I don't believe the Indians will do much celebrating tomorrow. They're not in the mood. They're fed up with the guff they've been getting for 300 years."

To point out the feelings of the Indians, the blond war veteran explains that the projected construction of Garrison dam, North Dakota reclamation project, has brought heated protests because the lake would flood out hundreds of Assiniboine and Sioux.

"The government says those tribes-

PILOT FORCED TO FLY YOUTH TO LA. AT PISTOL POINT

Owner Of Plane Calls Police After Disarming Abductor In Scuffle

YOUNG MAN BEING HELD ON KIDNAPPING CHARGE

BOGALUSA, La., Sept. 27.—(AP)—The operator of a Council Bluffs, Iowa flying school told police today that he was forced at pistol point to fly a 23-year-old man from Memphis, Tenn., to Bogalusa.

Police Desk Sgt. Edward Toups said a youth listed as Fred M. Thomas was being held for investigation on a kidnapping charge. He was being investigated by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

Chief Magee said the youth, whose parents reside in the Varnado community about seven miles from Bogalusa, was arrested after he and the Iowa pilot, Harold A. Pollitt, had fought in the lobby of a downtown hotel and Pollitt had called officers.

The police chief said that Pollitt, a flying school operator, told him that he and the Louisiana youth left Council Bluffs about 7 a. m., Thursday en route to St. Louis, where the youth had claimed he owned half interest in a plane.

Unable to find the other alleged owner of the plane in St. Louis, Pollitt told Magee, they tried in Memphis, failed to find him there either and started back to St. Louis. As they gained altitude, Pollitt told Magee, the Louisiana youth stuck a pistol in his back and ordered him to fly to Bogalusa, and they landed there about 6 p. m., Thursday.

At the Bogalusa airport, the Iowa man told Magee, the youth ordered him to be quiet, registered at a hotel for both and ordered the pilot to remain in the room.

Early today, Pollitt told Magee, the youth gave him the choice of seeing the plane over to him, saying that

BEVIN DISCOUNTS NEW WAR DANGER

Agrees With Stalin That Major International Conflict Is Not Imminent

LONDON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin agreed tonight with Prime Minister Stalin that "no further war is likely at present," but added that no peace is possible without an end to the present "war of nerves."

Bevin's terse statement came three days after Stalin said the world was in no "real danger" of a new war—a pronouncement which gave hope to a world weary of continuing disagreement between East and West and attacks and counter attacks by the Moscow radio and the Western press.

The foreign secretary's statement was contained in a speech to a working class audience which elected him to parliament from the Wandsworth section of London.

Earlier today British weekly publications called upon Bevin to outline the United Kingdom's foreign policy in the light of recent statements by Russian and American leaders and British conservatives.

"We have recently had a statement from Russia that they do not anticipate a further war is likely at present," Bevin said in a speech. "I do not think so either and I do not know anybody who is asking for war."

Bevin added, however, that "there is one kind of war that must stop if we are to get peace—that is the war of nerves that has left some unfortunate countries in a state of disturbance."

The foreign secretary, who returned yesterday from the Paris peace conference, declared pointedly that "the acid test is not in speeches made by statesmen, but it is the approach in the conference room to the actual problems we are discussing."

"It will be there that we shall discover whether or not the United Nations have the cooperation which will make for the unity of mankind," he said.

Bevin spoke at a Labor party meeting in his London working class constituency, Wandsworth.

He renewed his pledge to do all possible to avert war.

"I will do my best and when I pass off this stage as a member of the government I hope I have left nothing behind that will create further desires for war or further wars."

PAYNE FAMILY REUNITED AFTER ROW OVER CAREER

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The John Paynes have patched up their quarrel and she (Gloria de Haven) has come back home, bringing with her nine-month-old Kathleen Payne. Gloria moved out last Saturday night, explaining she and Payne couldn't agree on whether she was to stay home and be a housewife or continue in motion pictures.

"I guess they compromised," said a studio spokesman, "because she's continuing her role in a movie."

The Payne household also includes Julie, five-year-old daughter of Payne by his former wife, Anne Shirley.

Dissident Democrats Press For Federal Action In Meat Famine

Cattle Raisers Disagree With Prediction Of Ample Supply By Winter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Chairman Roy L. Thompson of the price decontrol board predicted tonight that the meat shortage will last "some time" and many Western cattlemen voiced similar views.

Thompson declined to intimate what the board might decide on the decontrol petition being prepared by the packers. But he said that "given the same set of circumstances now" that prevailed Aug. 20 when meat controls were restored, the board would have "no alternative" but to keep them on.

The cattlemen's forecasts generally represented disagreement with President Truman's statement that the normal fall run of grass-fed cattle to market should soon improve the supply, but they were not unanimous.

Amid it all, Democratic congressmen made fresh demands for federal action notwithstanding the president's stand against raising prices or removing controls. The party executive committee, however, quietly dropped its proposal to take the matter up with the decontrol board.

Thompson agreed with Mr. Truman that the shortage is due to the heavy movement to market of livestock during July and August, when ceilings were off.

He expressed the opinion that no decontrol decision could be made by the board before November or December, since petitions for removal of ceilings have to be initiated by meat industry advisory committees and acted on first by the agriculture department.

One bright spot for housewives was a war department order reducing by about one-fifth the amount of meat the army demanded earlier this week.

RELEASE OF SODA ASH SCRUTINIZED

Allocation Of Scarce Material To Kaiser Aluminum Plant Being Examined

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—A government order giving scarce soda ash to a Henry Kaiser aluminum plant today under a Senate committee's scrutiny amid contentions of home-building materials.

Senator Ferguson, Republican, Michigan, who brought up the matter at surplus property hearings of the war investigating committee, said he was advised that one result will be closing of a glass plant in Toledo.

Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small, however, took the position that Congress had handed down a mandate to promote competition in the aluminum industry, and that new firms should be helped in setting up. In this, he was supported by Senator Mead, (Democrat, New York).

Ferguson developed testimony from Small that a CPA order requiring delivery of soda ash to the Kaiser aluminum plant in Louisiana was issued "two or three weeks ago."

Small said the soda ash industry advisory committee was consulted before the order was issued. Soda ash, a widely used industrial chemical, is in short supply.

Ferguson said CPA called in the advisory committee and demanded that it make a large amount to a certain manufacturer of aluminum in Louisiana, to wit Mr. Kaiser.

"How much did you demand that it give him?" he asked Small.

"Only enough to operate the plant," Small replied.

The questioning went on: "Didn't Kaiser want the aluminum for his automobile industry?" Ferguson asked.

"Part of it," Small replied.

To a question whether any government agency came to Kaiser's aid in seeking the order, Small replied that he did not know but "RFC might have." He said he had not handled the matter personally.

"It was RFC's plant," Small added, apparently meaning RFC had sold the plant to Kaiser.

OPA FIXES PRICE LISTS ON KAISER AUTOMOBILES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Rounding out its price ceilings for passenger automobiles, OPA today fixed list price for the new Kaiser Special at $1,645 and its companion car, the Frazer, at $1,795. Both ceilings apply to four-door sedans.

OPA said that in fixing the ceilings it made allowances for "temporary hardship" in automobile production go that the new manufacturers could hope for a profit.

General Motors also asked an increase on all its models two weeks ago. OPA said today no action has been taken because General Motors has not supplied additional data requested.

As with other list prices on automobiles, buyers of the new "Kaiser Special," which is manufactured by the Kaiser-Frazer Corp., and the "Frazer," made by the Graham-Paige Motors Corp., will pay considerably more than the ceilings announced today. The additional charges are for freight, taxes, handling and conditioning.

The new prices are subject to review or modification on or before March 31 of next year.

Steel Town Disrupted By Trolley Shutdowns

1,000,000 Daily Riders Marooned As Motorists Refuse To Cross Picket Lines; Negotiations For Settlement Resumed

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Beset by the ever-widening effects of a four-day power strike of 3,500 Duquesne Light Company employees, Pittsburgh reeled from a new blow today as pickets again began suspension of trolley service upon which 1,000,000 daily riders depend.

Hopes for a speedy settlement rose late today with announcement that negotiations had been resumed. Mayor David L. Lawrence reported a mass meeting of union employees will be held at 8:15 p. m. tomorrow at which "union officers will submit whatever the company offer is at that time."

Meanwhile, interruption of trolley service caught by surprise thousands of commuting workers, who as an alternative hurried to catch "last cars" or depended on hitch-hiking or other makeshift means to get home.

The cars began to disappear from the streets upon arrival at barns picketed by independent unionists. Motorists of the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railways and Motor Coach Employees refused to cross the picket lines. Earlier, 29 city bus routes operated by the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company were suspended when bus operators also refused to cross picket lines.

Both the buses and trolleys were withdrawn from service yesterday on (Continued On Seventh Page)

BRITISH AVIATOR KILLED IN JET PLANE EXPLOSION

ALLA-HALLOWS-ON-THE-SEA, England, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Geoffrey de Havilland, 37, daredevil test pilot and scion of a famous British aviation family, was presumed killed at dusk tonight in the explosion, 10,000 feet in the air, of a radical new tailless jet plane he had hoped to fly to a new world's speed record.

The Royal Air Force announced officially the finding of the wreckage of the experimental plane spread over a mile of deserted sea marsh in the Thames Estuary.

BRITISH PLANE BEARS GREEK KING BACK TO NATIVE LAND

ELEVSIS AIRPORT, Greece, Sept. 27.—(AP)—King George II returned to troubled Greece tonight after five years of exile, arriving at this war-battered airport after 12 miles from Athens in a British plane bearing the royal Greek colors.

He was escorted to a small black sedan and in three minutes was whisked away to a flotilla of Greek warships, including three destroyers, waiting for him in Salamis Bay, only two miles from the birthplace of the Greek Tragedian Aeschylus.

He will make his entry tomorrow into Athens, where the police issued strict orders banning tossing of flowers "or any other objects" along the route he will take on his return to the palace he left in 1941 just two days ahead of the advancing German armies.

As he returned to his Mediterranean kingdom, leftist hands were battling gendarmes and soldiers in what northern frontier regions in what Premier Constantinos Tsaldaris has described as civil war.

PRESIDENT YIELDS TO CRIES AGAINST FLOOD FUND SLASH

Agrees To Reconsider Economy Order Curtailing Grant By $350,000,000

CONGRESSMEN CONFIDENT OF OBTAINING INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Bowling to the outcries of congressmen whose districts would have been affected, President Truman has agreed to reconsider his economy order on waterway projects, legislators said today.

They said he had directed Stabilization Director John R. Steelman and Budget Director James E. Webb to look over the program again with a view to allowing more expenditures on flood control and navigation.

Congress voted more than $500,000,000 for these projects in the current fiscal year which started July 1. As part of his economy program, Mr. Truman had ordered Aug. 2 that no more than $185,000,000 be spent.

This led to a protest meeting of congressmen and others at New Orleans last week. A resolution was adopted there proposing that, unless the presidential order was rescinded, the Congress meeting in January should pass legislation to "annul the order and prohibit repetition of similar encroachments of the executive on the legislative appropriation power."

Carrying out instructions of the meeting, senators and representatives put the issue up to Mr. Truman at the White House today.

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) and Rep. Whittington (D-Miss.), telling reporters that the chief executive

GROSS FAVORITISM ASCRIBED TO WAA

House Committee Studies Stories Of Dual Pricing In Surplus Sales

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—"Gross favoritism" in the disposal of billions in surplus war property was charged today by Chairman Slaughter, Democrat, Missouri, as a House investigating committee heard stories of dual pricing by the War Assets Administration.

Rep. Ritzley, Republican, Oklahoma, declared that testimony that "hobnobbing" sales agents "hung around" WAA offices showed "incompetency or worse" by civil service employees.

D. A. Griffin of the communications measurement laboratory, a surplus selling agent at Plainfield, N. J., told the committee the government surplus agency instructed his company to sell an electronics item for $200, while a competitor-Hallcrafters Company of Chicago—got a $50 price on the same item.

John L. Alheim, WAA official, told the committee that one "hobnobbing" representative of a private company informed him bluntly, "it's up to me to cash in and make all I can while this program is in effect."

The occasion, Alheim said, was when Majestic Radio Company sought to have the government approve a $1200 per month salary for Nicholas Rhineholz in connection with that company's handling of surplus property, to be put down as an expense against the government.

Ritzley interrupted the testimony to declare the investigation had produced "a picture of incompetency, and probably more than incompetency" by government civil service employees. He added "they seem to be hobnobbing with people interested in contracts."

Going further into the headachae of war surplus disposal, the WAA official said that in one instance a company selling surplus goods held up the money it got on the government property in an effort to get a new selling arrangement with the government.

MISSOURI WAR VETERANS PREPARING BONUS MARCH

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 27.—(AP)—World War II veterans began assembling today for a "bonus march" to the state capital at Jefferson City, threatening to stay there until "we get an answer one way or the other" to demands that the state pay a $400 bonus to each ex-serviceman.

Muriel E. Owen, the veterans plan to leave tonight by motor convoy for the capital. Owen said he expected some 15,000 from southwest Missouri to participate in the trek.

A proposal for a state bonus, to be financed by doubling the state sales tax, was suspended in committee when the state assembly adjourned last week. Earlier at a special meeting a house committee scheduled two days of hearings on the bill, but adjourned early because not enough witnesses appeared.

Owen and Harvey E. Yost, another leader of the movement, said the marchers would go prepared to stay until their demands were met.

At Jefferson, City, Gov. Phil M. Donnelly has declined to comment on the march, saying only that he would deal with the situation when the time comes.

Interesting Family Arrives In City

Adjutant Charles A. Stafford Arrives In City With Members Of His Family

One of the most far reaching organizations for good in the world today is the Salvation Army with its arm reaching out to encircle those who are in need not only of the material things of life but the spiritual aid that helps them to lift their thought above the drabness of their daily life.

A Salvation Army however is only as great as its leader. It takes a man with unusual strength of character and much compassion to reach the deserving people in the community where the Salvation Army functions. Such a man is Adjutant Charles A. Stafford who arrived in Monroe recently with his interesting family to serve as commanding officer for the Salvation Army activities in this district. As a family we welcome them to our city and pledge our support to the work they represent. Mrs. Stafford has spent many years in young people's work and has achieved much success in organizing clubs with mothers of the underprivileged boy and girl.

Charles Stafford, Jr., was recently selected to represent Washington at the Presidential Youth Froid conference where delegates met from 30 states and the District of Columbia to discuss with President Truman the critical food situation. He is sixteen years of age and is a member of the senior class at Neville High School. He is an accomplished musician and excels in boxing and wrestling and other sports and is a junior instructor in the art and craft department of the Salvation Army community center.

Miss Ann Stafford, the other member of the family, is twelve years of age and is in the seventh grade at Neville High School. She is musically inclined and will be a distinct acquisition to the young people's clubs of this city.

Adjutant Stafford has a most interesting background with 25 years of work to his credit among young people. During the past two years he organized clubs in the nation's capital and previous to that was in charge of the Magness Community Center of Nashville, Tenn., the largest club in the Salvation Army. Three years ago he was elected assistant district boy's work chairman of the Optimist club for the 11th district and was responsible for organizing a large club of Junior Optimists in New York City 1939 he was presented with a 15 year meritorious medal for boy's work by the Boys' Club of America and since then has merited a twenty year bar. In the athletic field the Adjutant started at an early age and excelled in many sports. In 1926 he held a record of seven years in the amateur wrestling field with no defeats and was recognized as lightweight champion of eastern Canada, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, and the southern states. In his many matches he wrestled the reigning prospect such as Joe Turner, world's champion in the 155 pound class, and Romanoff, a contender for the crown, who also played Tarzan in "Tarzan of the Apes." Adj. Stafford's father won numerous prizes in walking races and his grandfather was lightweight boxing champion of Middlesex, England.

In addition to the numerous projects he has organized and directed much time has been spent as an official in various sports, including referee for the A. A. U. in boys' and girls' basketball. According to information received, he is also a master plumber and a handwriting expert having a license to carry on both of these professions, although the Adjutant stated, "My job is doing anything I can for the benefit of the community and helping men, women, boys and girls into a better relationship with their Heavenly Father."

Assisting in the work in this district is Lieutenant Ernest Cleve of Houston, Texas, where his father, Major Cleve, is in charge of the Salvation Army. He was recently commissioned from the Atlanta College where he took an extensive course of training for young people's work and the general work of the Salvation Army. He lettered for two years in basketball and football at the Jefferson Davis High School in Houston and has spent three years as physical director and instructor in club work. As a family we welcome them to our community and pledge our support to the work they represent.

Mrs. Harriet Caldwell's three daughters left the first of the week for college. Miss Mary Joyce Caldwell is a student at the University of Texas and Miss Adelyn Caldwell is attending S. M. U. in Dallas, Texas. Miss Virginia Caldwell has returned to Northwestern State College, Natchitoches, where she is a member of the senior class.

Mrs. Harold Riggs is now convalescing from a recent injury and will be glad to have her friends call.

Eat more onions. Help move the bumper crop. Remember, you save money on your grocery bill when you eat onion soup, states Mrs. Mildred Swift, associate home agent with the agricultural extension department. Use onions to make them into some new and tasty dishes. Onions are plentiful these days.

Mrs. Swift submits the following recipe for onion soup:

Cook two cups finely chopped onions in two tablespoons fat until slightly brown. Sprinkle with three tablespoons of flour and stir. Add 1 1/2 quarts hot meat broth, made by cooking a soup bone in water, and stir until smooth. Season with salt and pepper and simmer until the onions are tender and flavor well blended. Serve in bowls with toast or crackers.

Spring onions on toast is delicious here's the recipe: If you have an abundance of spring onions, allow six or seven finger size ones to each serving. Cook green tops and all, until tender in lightly salted boiling water, about 20 minutes if onions are young and fresh. Season with melted fat and serve on toast.

Mr. and Mrs. Credille P. Calhoun of Edgewater Gardens announce the arrival of a son, Charles Credille, on Sept. 18 at St. Francis Sanitarium. The maternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Peters of this city, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Calhoun of Bastrop. Mrs. Calhoun and infant son are now at home to their friends.

Mrs. Mildred Swift announces that the first hook rug lesson will be held Wednesday afternoon, October 25 at the Agricultural Extension Building in West Monroe. Mrs. Dickerson, the teacher for this project, asks that those who have rugs bring them along for exhibition at this time.

F. C. Endom, brother of Mrs. E. G. Courtney, is in St. Francis Sanitarium in critical condition following a stroke a few days ago. He had been living in a hotel in Bayville recently and it was while living there that he became seriously ill and was removed to the sanitarium here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Peters, Jr., of Alexandria, La., announce the arrival of a daughter, Alice Elizabeth, September 13 at the Baptist Hospital in Alexandria. The maternal grandparents are Mrs. Robert Burts of Honea Path, South Carolina, and the paternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Peters, Sr.

The Crosley P.-T. A. held its first meeting of the year September 18 in the school auditorium, with Mrs. O. F. Watts, vice-president, presiding in the absence of Mrs. Craig, president.

The meeting opened with a song "America" after which Mrs. Watts introduced the new officers and chairman, as follows:

President, Mrs. A. F. Craig; vice-president, Mrs. O. F. Watts; treasurer, Mrs. E. B. Whitten; program chairman, Mrs. John Lewis; membership chairman, Mrs. Cary Phillips; hospitality chairman, Mrs. Ed Primmy; publicity chairman, Mrs. Ed Hislop, Jr.; publication chairman, Mrs. J. C. Lolley; summer round-up chairman, Mrs. Ras Kennedy; scrap book chairman, Mrs. Harry Moore; room representative, Mrs. C. E. Grandberry; legislator, Mrs. H. B. McClendon; welfare, Mrs. F. A. Hoffman; finance and budget, Mrs. John Parker.

The teachers of Crosley School were also introduced and after taking the room count Mrs. J. A. Rainbolt's room won the prize for having the largest attendance of mothers.

Mr. J. W. Rutledge, principal, made a short talk and expressed his appreciation for the large attendance.

Registration of mothers for membership in Crosley P.-T. A. was made with most gratifying results.

Mrs. E. M. Primus, social chairman, stated that a social period would be enjoyed at the next meeting and urged all parents to be present.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

Members of the Parker Memorial class of First Methodist church held their annual picnic supper at Jeber Ranch, country home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy O. Hale.

Each year the members are privileged to invite their husbands and friends and this year the picnic was attended by one hundred members and their guests.

Following the supper a business meeting was held for the election of officers for the coming year. They are: Mrs. R. E. Bedwell, president; Mrs. W. J. Veazey, vice-president; Mrs. J. R. Humphrey, secretary; Mrs. Annie Lee Johnston, treasurer; Mrs. John T. Harper, party secretary; Mrs. A. R. Holloway, Miss Julia Wossman and Mrs. H. A. Miller, teachers.

The hostesses were: Mrs. Roy O. Hale, Miss Ola Mae Pennington, Mrs. Clara Belle Jackson, Mrs. Mary Gene Lea, Mrs. Jewel Wise, Mrs. Ola Caldwell, Mrs. June Godfrey, Mrs. Mary Ellet, Mrs. Addie Mae Everett, Miss Mae Coker, Mrs. Louis Ketner, Mrs. Lucille Mathis and Mrs. Ruby Parnell.

Billy and Neill Matthews, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Matthews are attending Louisiana Tech in Ruston this year.

Mrs. William Bray and little daughter, Betty, of Tallulah are visiting Mrs. Bray's mother, Mrs. W. E. Smith.

If you have any clothing that you can spare, especially clothing that will fit school children, please call the Salvation Army, number 4320 as numerous calls are coming in from parents who have insufficient clothing for their children and the Salvation Army is not prepared to supply the demand. Every year the Army has made this request and the people of Monroe have always responded generously. It will be a great help to Army officials if you are in a position to deliver clothing to 110 1/2 South Grand street but if not it will be cheerfully collected in answer to your phone call.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alfano, bride and groom of recent date, competed a visit in the home of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Romano of this city and returned to their home in Birmingham, Ala.

United States court, Western Division of Louisiana, on September 25, for selling rice at wholesale above ceiling prices.

Investigation disclosed, according to Mr. Fortier, that the company had charged $713.21 above ceiling in its wholesale transactions. The suit filed represents three times that amount.

In making the announcement, Mr. Fortier said: "We are determined that all commodities under price control are going to be sold at ceiling price. The public has a right to expect this of us and we are accepting that responsibility."

RITES SET FOR SMITH FUNERAL

Services Will Be Held Saturday; Attorney Had Brilliant Career

The funeral of George Wesley Smith, 73, dean of the bar association here and one of the best known attorneys in this section of the state, who died Thursday, will be held in the Muhshearn Funeral Home, Saturday at 2 p. m. Interment will be made in Memorial park cemetery.

Active pallbearers will be the following: Judge David I. Garrett, Judge Carey J. Ellis, Judge Edward L. Gladney, Horace Mangham, George Fink, M. C. Redmond, and James A. Noe. All members of the bar of the Fourth Judicial District and presiding judges will be honorary pallbearers.

Mr. Smith was a descendant of Berryman Smith, a soldier in the Revolutionary War, and was related to the famous Fyfeclades of South Carolina, whose progenitor originally came to Savannah, Ga., with General Oglethorpe, one of them serving a term as governor of that state.

Mr. Smith was educated in the public schools of Vermillion County, Ill., and later read law in the office of Judge Lovett in Atlanta, Ga. He successfully passed the bar examinations in Georgia in 1897, and the following year came to Louisiana where he began practice of law in the town of Rayville, where he resided until 1936, when he moved to Monroe which has been his home ever since.

From 1900 to 1928, he served as mayor of Rayville at different times and was also a member of the school board of Richland parish. In 1912 he was elected state senator in the Louisiana legislature, and represented his district until 1916.

Many political honors were heaped upon Mr. Smith during his long career during which he became recognized as an outstanding attorney in the practice of criminal law. He was secretary to Gov. Luther E. Hall in 1915-1916; a member of the legislative investigating committee in 1914 and one of the committee appointed to revise the corporation laws of the state in 1914.

During World War I, Mr. Smith was chairman of the council of defense of Richland parish; a member of the state council of defense and a member of the speakers' bureau during that trying period. Later he served as member of the board of governors of the state bar of Louisiana from the Fifth Congressional District and its first vice-president. He also was member of the district and of the American Bar Association. He was a 32nd degree Mason and held membership in other lodges. He was member of Grace Episcopal Church.

On June 14, 1932, he married Miss Acle F. Stevens, daughter of R. A. Stevens, of Veedsburg, Ind. Mrs. Smith was the first woman in Louisiana to hold an elective office under the law which fully emancipated women, serving as member of the board of aldermen of the town of Rayville for two terms. Inspired by her brilliant husband, she became an indefatigable worker for the cause of woman suffrage, and was member of various organizations of the state, giving freely of her time and knowledge in the campaign for the adoption of the amendment to the constitution of the United States which gave equal rights to women. Besides her public service rendered, she also has been distinguished as a talented artist and poet.

Despite his advanced age, Mr. Smith was actively engaged in his profession and was directing numerous important cases up to a fortnight ago when he was seized with illness which required hospitalization. His physicians were confident that his rugged constitution would carry him through and news of his death came as a great surprise and shock.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are parents of one child, Waldorf A. Smith, who is an engineer living in the east.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been foremost in advancing all that pertains to cultural and civic development of city, state and nation. News of Mr. Smith's death was greeted with sincere sorrow by the legal fraternity and by persons in all walks of life. In their opinion, Mr. Smith's death removes one of the most valuable and colorful citizens that the community has ever possessed.

In addition to his wife and son, Mr. Smith is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Hattie J. Clem, Oconomowoc, Wis., and Mrs. Flora S. Lynn, Seattle, Wash.; three grandchildren, Acle F. Batterson, Shreveport, Mary Harges, Roslyn, Long Island, N. Y., and George Wesley Smith 3rd; and two great grandchildren, Michael Harges and Patrick Batterson.

TECH PLANS ON ITS HOMECOMING

Will Be Held October 12; Football Game Highlight Of Day

RUSTON, La., Sept. 27.—(Special)—General plans for the annual homecoming celebration at Louisiana Tech, to be held on Saturday, October 12, have been announced by W. H. McLaurin of Jonesboro, president of the Louisiana Tech Alumni Association.

Highlighting the entertainment features of the day will be a football game between the Bulldogs and Arkansas State Teachers College of Conway, Ark., at 8 p. m.

A business meeting of the alumni association, which will include the election of officers and members of the executive council, is scheduled for 3 p. m.

The homecoming parade is to form at 4 p. m. and proceed from the campus downtown and return. All student organizations, as well as business firms or others interested, are invited to enter floats in the parade.

At 6 p. m., a barbecue supper will be served in Aswell Gardens for the alumni.

A homecoming queen and maids will be elected for participation in the parade and presentation at the football game.

A dance under the auspices of the "T" club will follow the football game.

STALIN PREPARING FOR ANOTHER WAR

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Frank Gannett said today that Stalin was preparing for war "to extend communism to the rest of the world," and that "trouble" between the United States and Russia seemed virtually inevitable.

Addressing the New York state legislative board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, the publisher referred to Stalin's recent statement to the contrary. But he added that "on February 9 of this year, Stalin plainly announced in a speech to his own people that under a capitalistic system of world economy, wars are unpreventable."

"In other words," Gannett interpreted, "all our efforts to promote peace are in vain. In Stalin's opinion the 'N. will not be able to prevent war. 'I don't expect war with Russia immediately,' the publisher said. 'Stalin is not ready for it—but he is busy with preparations.'"

LEWIS UNDERGOES OPERATION FRIDAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—John L. Lewis underwent an operation at Emergency Hospital today.

Aides had reported he was suffering from appendicitis.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers (A. F. of L.) was taken to the hospital about noon. Half an hour later, the hospital, without disclosing any details, announced that Lewis "is being operated on."

The hospital said the surgeon, Dr. John H. Lyons, would have a statement for the press later.

With the union leader was his son, Dr. John L. Lewis Jr., a member of the staff of the Johns Hopkins University Hospital, a former naval physician and surgeon.

Pacific Bases

Five members of the House military affairs committee have returned from a 38,000-mile tour of the Pacific with the conviction that the United States must not only retain but strengthen its ring of defense bases in that ocean. There are not many Americans today, except Henry Wallace and his admirers, who would disagree with that conclusion.

No matter how deeply an individual is convinced that peace must be sought by every means and with all the determination that can be commanded, realities of the world situation demand that there be no weakening of the nation's defenses while there is as little certainty of lasting peace as there is today.

Ironically, the statement of the committee members followed by less than 24 hours an announcement by the navy that it is liquidating a dozen or more of its bases in the mid-Pacific and south-Pacific areas. With the funds it has available, the navy insists it has neither the money nor the men to keep in operation all the overseas bases which it feels are essential to its defense network. This is astounding when the size of the naval appropriation is contemplated.

Important and desirable as economy is today, it may be questioned whether this method of saving federal funds is wise. There is a limit, to be sure, to what the nation can afford to spend for any item in the budget, including national defense. But the question of which defenses are to be maintained in the Pacific is too vital to be settled in this offhand manner. Bases should be shut down only after the state department and the joint chiefs of staff have decided that this can be done without compromising the nation's military security.

ECONOMY IN REVERSE

Members of a congressional committee, given the job of cutting down the number of non-essential federal employees, are having quite a time. The first task was to reduce the list of wartime jobholders, now in excess of 2,700,000, compared to 900,000 at the start of the war. In 1933 the number was 500,000. The committee hopes to lop off at least one million such persons from the federal payroll.

Considerable progress has been made, but general results are disappointing. As rapidly as the war and navy departments dismiss civilian employees no longer needed, non-military agencies increase the number of their employees. During the month of July there was an actual increase of 21,000 persons on federal payrolls. Recently 2,500 special investigators, or snoopers, were added to OPA personnel. At a conservative estimate this will add at least $35,000 a day to government expense, and to no purpose.

The administration takes the stand this is no time to cut down the number of federal jobholders. Jobholders and their relatives constitute a mighty army of potential voters for the November elections. Washington has lost sight of the fact that a definite program of economy would win an equal number of votes if honestly administered.

And apologists of government spending, such as Representative Doughton, continue to ask foes of bureaucratic extravagance how taxes can be cut!

THE SUGAR MESS

For some time it has been hinted in Washington out-givings that sugar rationing would end next March when the Cuban crop becomes available. Now the bureaucrats put out the word that sugar will be scarce throughout 1947 and well into 1948. In fact, the Washington control authorities do not know when sugar will be plentiful again. No plausible reasons are advanced why the shortage is to be prolonged so indefinitely.

Are controls themselves the reason? Sugar was one of the first commodities to be controlled, one of the first to be rationed and both control and rationing have been interrupted. As a result, sugar is harder and harder to obtain legally. In many places it is unobtainable with coupons. In the black market, which is in reality the free market, sugar is reported to be more plentiful than ever.

The nation has had enough examples of government controls to leave no doubt that scarcity goes hand in hand with them. Meat is the latest example. Controls off, plenty of meat—controls back on, no meat.

If Congress convenes in January with the determination to remove all controls, sugar will be freed and the American people will have plenty of sugar by March. The scarcity of sugar will continue as long as the collectivist bureaucrats have their paws on it.

News BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Reproduction in Whole or in Part Strictly Prohibited)
 WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—It is not difficult to find out what made the meat disappear.
 The farmers, according to my best farm experts, have entered upon a practical boycott of the market as a result of the OPA price ceilings. Some increased ceilings were allowed a few weeks back, but not enough to lure cattle or hogs into the market. Paul Porter's group, operating OPA, increased to $16.25 a hundred. Since then, packing supplies of meat have steadily dwindled until the cities have gotten around to horse meat, and the butchers' pork, and sparsely maintained with skin allowances of sausage, cold meats and other inferior substitutes for normal supplies.
 The farmers are simply taking a gamble that prices will go higher. The feed situation is conducive to holding meat on the hoof. Excellent crops of corn and grain, and good pasture conditions, have afforded opportunities for feeding and fattening now to sell for a higher price later.
 This may seem to the consumer to be a rather selfish arrangement, but the economic management which the government has built up over the past few years has practically required the farmer to do what he is doing. He sees inflationary prices all around him; strikes for tremendous increases in wages running as high as 30 per cent are being conducted in the large cities, and in a price inflation period, naturally he would assume his own right to strike.

 Now the government on the OPA side of the matter has produced figures showing much less cattle than last year is going into the midwest feed lots for fattening, and in other ways excusing itself and refusing to look at the situation in the face. Seeing the consumers' side of it alone in OPA, it has fixed ceilings for what it calls anti-inflationary purposes, wholly unmindful of the truth of the matter which is—the ceilings themselves have become purely theoretical and the meat cannot be obtained at any price.

The government is empowered to keep up this stalemate until OPA expires next June, but with the election coming on, its position is becoming more and more embarrassing politically every day. My guess would be that the White House considers it is being pressed closer and closer into a political predicament from which it will extricate itself in the usual—if not the normally intelligent—way by lifting the price again. By the "normally intelligent" way, I mean going thoroughly into its whole mismanagement of the intricate machinery, from the time a cow is born until it reaches the store, and then revise the regulations so as to produce meat supplies at fair prices in common justice. So as I say, my guess is that perhaps a week or two before election the price ceilings will be relaxed in order to get the farmer vote. However, this does not seem to me to be even reasonable politics, as Congress wanted to relax the OPA restraints considerably more in the beginning and Congress, is the agency facing election this year, not Mr. Truman or his OPA. So while a further boost in prices would perhaps relieve the pressure on the White House, the majority of congressmen facing reelection (up to nearly two-thirds of their number) have a record more favorable to the farm viewpoint—and the obtaining of meat.

Incidentally, Agriculture Secretary Anderson, who was originally brought into the picture by Mr. Truman to take charge of the food supply situation and to straighten it out by this time the had distinguished himself in Congress by making a report which was generally approved as showing some common sense in the matter, has been ill in New Mexico for the past several weeks. His friends have been doubtful as to when or whether he would be able to return, an inside factor which may have contributed to the demoralization of the administration meat machinery again.

IN HOLLYWOOD

By Erskine Johnson
 (NEA Service Staff Correspondent)
 HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—"Now just relax," the doctor said. "Tha-a-a-t's it. Now tell me, do you ever see spots before your eyes?"
 "No spots, exactly. Ski tracks."
 "What?"
 "Ski tracks, doc. Whenever anybody makes marks on a table cloth with a fork. Ever since Ingrid Bergman did it in 'Spellbound' and the marks turned to ski tracks plain as anything."
 "Ah-hem—yes. How are your nerves?"
 "Well, I do get a little jumpy when anybody whistles that 'Merry Widow Waltz.' Remember what happened every time they played it around Joe Cotten in Alfred Hitchcock's 'Shadow of a Doubt'?"
 "Ah-hah!" the doctor said. "A plain case of occupational psychopathia, that's what you've got."

Closet Caution
 "And every night before going to bed I look behind the clothes in my closet."
 "You do? What for?"
 "Because that where George Brent was hiding when he sprang out and garroted that little crippled girl in 'Spiral Staircase.' We can't be too careful these days you know—not with this crime wave on."
 "What crime wave?"
 "Doc, don't you keep up with current events? Don't you know about Brent the Gent, Baby Face Loree, Zerkie Keeney, Betty Wells, Faust Greenstreet, Dirty Dan Duryea, Edward the G. Robinson—?"
 "Robinson? You mean that fiend who stabbed Joan Bennett with the ice pick?"

"That's the one. Horrible, wasn't it?"
 "You're telling me? That crime haunts me. It's been ruining my sleep as a surgeon. Every time the nurse hands me the scalpel, I scream!"
 "You, too, eh, Doc?"
 "My dear man, it isn't only I, but my patients!"
 Nation Of Neurotics
 "The motion-picture crime wave of which you speak is subtly turning us into a nation of neurotics. These Hitchcocks are inducing in us the most deadly type of fear-complex—a dread of the ordinary sights and sounds of daily life."
 "But, doctor, what's to be done to stop these madmen before it is too late?"
 "Distribution," said the doctor, "retribution will catch up with them, as it already has with Mr. Hitchcock."
 "It so happened," said the doctor, "that only yesterday he came to me with a mild case of indigestion, and remembering that his psychological tricks had played havoc with my career as a surgeon, I decided to turn the tables by trying a little psychology on him."
 "It had been his custom to be shaved every morning by a barber. I prescribed that, since he got no other exercise, he should learn to shave himself."
 "This morning he began. He lathered his face, lifted the razor, and—looked into the mirror. Mechanically, his diabolical mind began to direct the knife. He felt the razor on his neck. 'They found him,' said the doctor with a wicked little smile, 'with his throat cut from ear to ear.'"

New York Day By Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
 This Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—Thinking out loud: The reaction of Jones, the cocker, to the sickness and death of his old friend and companion, Captain Kidd, have been interesting and pathetic. After the Captain was fatally stricken, the old before Mr. Jones would go near him, but covered pitifully in a corner. He had walked up to the dog and smelled his coat, just once. Tail down, head down, ears flopping, he retired at once to his corner. When the Captain went out for his last walk, Jones avoided him. This morning, a day after the old dog's leaving us, Jones found Captain's corpse, he carried it out into the center of "living room," and lay there with his chin on his muzzle, sadly looking into the distance or lying with closed eyes, the end of a strap between his teeth.

Granddaughter Nancy is used to playing with Jones, chasing him around the room in a vain effort to get something away from him. She started crawling toward him, to get the muzzle. Jones growled several times, and moved. When Nancy followed, he warned her with sharp barks that this was not play. Nancy understood. She said to me, "Cooky, her name for Jones says 'No, Nancy.' He no want to play. Why?"
 There he lay, until duty called him to back at strangers at the door. He held just the end of one strap between his teeth, and his head rested upon the memento of his old friend, who never had been jealous of the younger dog who was to inherit some of his place in the hearts of the household.

A fairly common occurrence, I'm told by New York Central men, is for customers to confuse Peekskill and Poughkeepsie, both north of New York on the Hudson River division, but 45 minutes apart in running time. I bought a ticket to Poughkeepsie, and took along one of the most interesting books I've come across this long year. It is "Sudden Guest," by Christopher La Farge, which the Book of the Month club wisely marked for September selection. The book revolves around and shuttles back and forth upon the two great hurricanes of 1938 and 1944, as they affected the lives of some persons in Rhode Island.
 It is an excellent book, and appropriate for discussion tomorrow, the eighth anniversary of the first of these terrible catastrophes.

I was so deeply immersed in Mr. La Farge's pure prose that I got off the train at Peekskill. When I asked to be taken to Vassar Brothers hospital, the taximan told me I was in the wrong town. The train was moving fast.

The polite young man at the ticket window accepted my story, wrote a note to the conductor on the next train, leaving for Poughkeepsie an hour later, so I did not have to pay double fare.

I went to see my old friend, V. V. McNitt, who was injured by an automobile on a parkway about five months ago. I am happy to report to his friends throughout the country that he is making good progress, and expects to be able to go home before the leaves have gone from the trees. Among many injuries, the worst was the crushing of the bones of one foot. Skilled surgery has mended the foot, penicillin kept gangrene away, and careful skin grafting is finishing the job.

The trees along the Hudson are at the autumnal stage preceding the brilliant show of colors. The great masses of them, grouped upon mountains and palisades, make up a glorious picture. (Released by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

U. S. INFORMATION SERVICE IS CLOSED

BELGRADE, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The United States closed its information service, reading room and library here yesterday by request of the Yugoslav foreign ministry, which had charged they were sources of propaganda against Marshal Tito's government.

The agencies were discontinued by Ambassador Richard C. Patterson upon receipt of a third note of complaint from the Yugoslav ministry. He protested that "no justifiable excuse" had been given for the request, which had resulted, he said, in "barring American thought from Yugoslavia." (In Washington, the state department announced an American government employee whom it did not identify had been discharged for using the information service's Multigraph machine without permission in reproducing articles critical of the Yugoslav government. The department said the person did not work in the information service.)

The ambassador himself had to cancel a lecture scheduled for yesterday afternoon in the reading room. The lecture was to have been the first of a series for the Belgrade public. Movies, concerts and other events, Patterson said, have drawn thousands weekly to the reading room to learn about American life.

CIVILIAN EATS MORE THAN FIGHTING MAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The army quartermaster estimated today a soldier eats less food than the average active civilian.

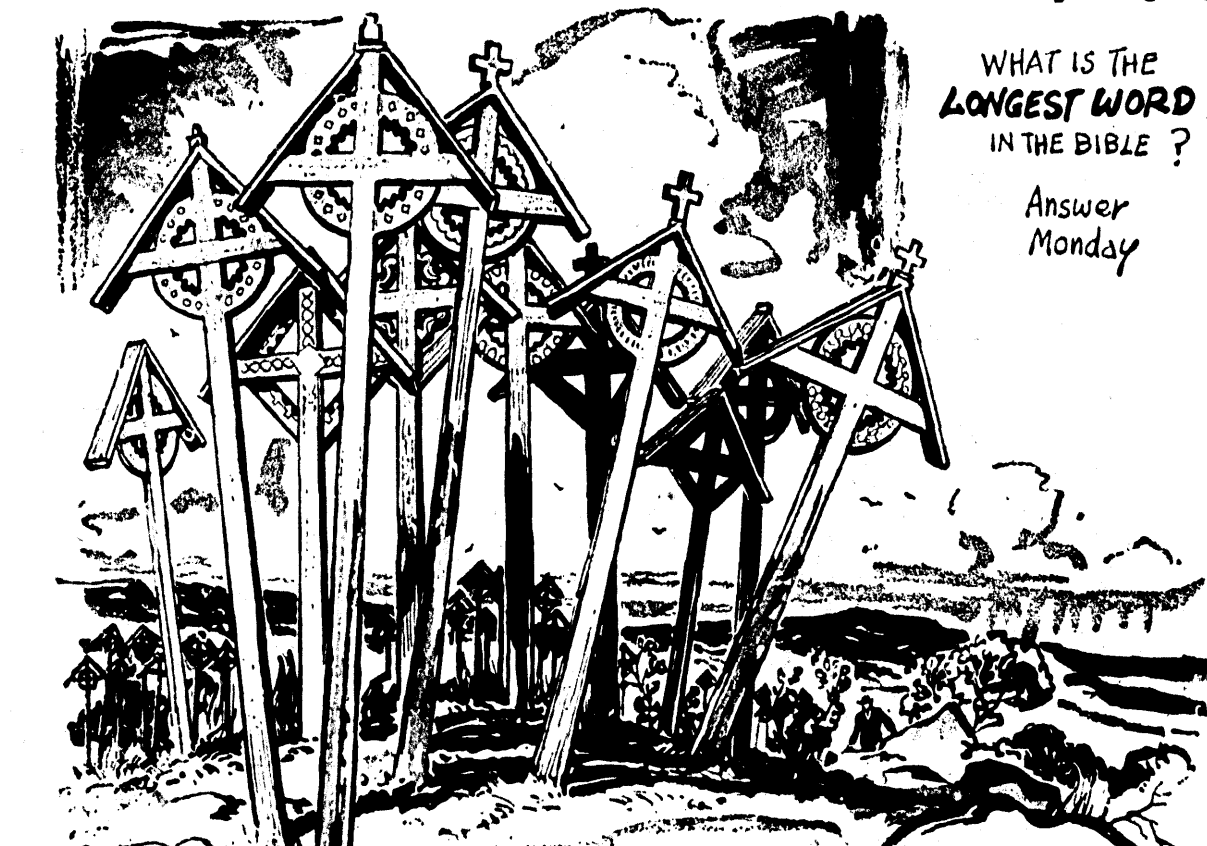

The army's master menu for troops allows an average of 3,780 calories a day, the quartermaster said, while many non-soldiers burn up 4,500.

Left out of account however, the War Department acknowledged, are the candies and other sweets soldiers buy at post exchanges or elsewhere.

The master menu, which lays out meals three months in advance, provides the soldier with 273 pounds a year of meat, poultry and fish—100 pounds more than the average for the civilian group with the highest consumption rate.

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—This piece won't quiver, your pulse unless you happen to be deeply interested in education and the exchange of ideas and information among nations.
 The problem is long-standing. The solution, if there ever is one, is long-range. And it will be slow coming. But at least a start is being made, first of its kind in the world.
 Here's the story:
 There is an international organization called Unesco, short for United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. Congress voted for us to take part in it.
 This government will send representatives, not yet chosen, to Unesco's conference in Paris in November. Unesco's purpose is this:
 To create better understanding among peoples of different nations by international cooperation on things like education, exchange of scientific developments, and spreading of ideas and information.
 At San Francisco, when the United Nations was organized in 1945, some people thought that in the long run Unesco might turn out to be the most valuable thing done there.
 "Maybe so. If all the countries, which are members of Unesco sincerely work together, they'll do good. Even if they don't Unesco still may be able to do a little good."

Spreading ideas, education and information is a huge task, since vast areas of the earth still are ridden with ignorance. And information is not permitted to flow freely in all countries.
 But when our delegates go to Unesco's November meeting in Paris, what will they propose?
 When it approved our joining Unesco, Congress also authorized the creation in this country of a body to advise the government on what we should try to do in Unesco.
 This special body is called the National Commission on Educational, Scientific and Cultural Cooperation. Its members—there are 90—are top American scholars, educators and intellectual leaders.
 The commission has just finished a four-day meeting here. That meeting was the first of its kind ever held in this country, since the commission is the first organization of its kind ever created here.
 It will have other meetings, but at this one it made recommendations on what it thought our delegates to Unesco should seek. The recommendations went to the department which sponsors the commission.
 Here are some things the commission said before it adjourned last night:
 1. It thinks an international conference should be called next year to lay down standards for revising school textbooks to rid them of prejudices and misunderstandings.
 2. This would be a major job. Textbooks of a country traditionally have glorified that country's history at the expense of all other countries.
 3. It wants a world-wide lending library for countries whose libraries were knocked out by war or which never had good libraries.

And the peaceable habitations are cut down because of the fierce anger of the Lord.
 —Jeremiah 25:37.
 The wounds of civil war are deeply felt.
 —Lucan.

Fig Is Pigs
 MILWAUKEE, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Farmer Henry Ignaciak says he and his pigs have one thing in common—they're fed up.

Ignaciak paid a $20 fine in district court on a trespassing charge—but his 50 pigs were the trespassers.

Neighbors testified the porkers had been coming on their property and eating tomatoes, oats, apples, flowers, etc.

"Here I am trying to get more meat on the tables," Ignaciak told the court, "and what do I get out of it? Help is scarce, nails to fix fences are scarce. I've worked hard and all I get for those pigs is grief."

More than half the population of New Zealand lives in 14 urban areas.

At the regular meeting of the Monroe Rotary club Thursday Rev. George Pearce, pastor of the Memorial Methodist church of Monroe, presented an interesting program of moving pictures taken during his service in the South Pacific as a chaplain in the marine corps. In color, these pictures gave Rotarians a clearer understanding of the work of the chaplains, as well as a better knowledge of conditions of the countries in which the pictures were made.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

224 Auburn Avenue

"Reality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 28, 1946. The Golden Text is: "In God is my salvation and my glory; the rock of my strength, and my refuge, is in God" (Ps. 62:7).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen" (Rom. 11:36).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "To grasp the reality and order of being in its Science, you must begin by reckoning God as the divine principle of all that really is" (p. 275).

M. I. A. meeting Tuesday at 7:45 p. m.

The Lord has told us that whenever even two or three shall gather together in His name, He will be there also. But is He always at our gatherings? We must first look into our hearts and search for the true reason for our being there. If attendance at meetings in church are approached with an attitude of duty or a mere desire to see and be seen, we cannot expect the spirit of the Lord to be with us. It is, therefore, most necessary that we empty our hearts of all vain and worldly thoughts and feelings before we enter the house of the Lord to worship. If we do that, then we can know that He is in our midst, as clearly as though He stood before us in the flesh.

Chaperones will be present at all times and accepted rules of behavior will be enforced. The success of the program will be determined largely by the cooperation and participation of the teen agers. The Jaycee chaperone committee is headed by Sidney Gill.

In a few weeks the Jaycees plan to invite the club members to set up their own organization with officers and committees. Plaisance said. We want the boys and girls to help plan future programs and activities because the project will be more effective if we present the type of program the members themselves want.

celebrated their tempo to meet the timetable approved at yesterday's plenary session. The military commission announced that it hoped to end its work by the middle of next week and said it planned to sit twice daily in order to do it.

The only two items remaining on this commission's agenda are the Yugoslav demands and a request from Czechoslovakia for frontier changes and authority to expel some 200,000 Hungarians.

The Italian political commission sat for five hours without halt. Three hours were devoted to aimless discussion of an Australian proposal for creation of an European tribunal for human rights, which had already been voted down or withdrawn in other commissions. Finally it was approved, after Vishinsky assailed it as "infantile" and recommended consigning it to "the wastebasket."

We extend to him our hearty sympathy.

Some chaps from Alabama started to put it all over a large-hearted restaurateur in West Monroe who offered the unusual menu of all the chicken one can eat for $1.25. The lads, five in number, proceeded to order one chicken meal and the other five contented themselves with a cup of coffee each. But then the chicken eating pail got order after order of the delicious most approved southern fried springer and divided it with his friends. When it came to settle they were told that each of the five was assessed $1.25. Then came a good sized row and in the melee they started to "clean up" with the cafe owner. But they are wiser now for they were fined $65 and court costs or sixty days in jail. We think they'll take the jail sentence but they won't EAT CHICKEN while there!

In these days of meat shortage, it sounds good to learn that two carloads of cattle, owned by J. E. Harkness and son, of Collinston, were shipped by rail the other day to St. Louis. If we could have more of this there would be meat enough to make the rounds.

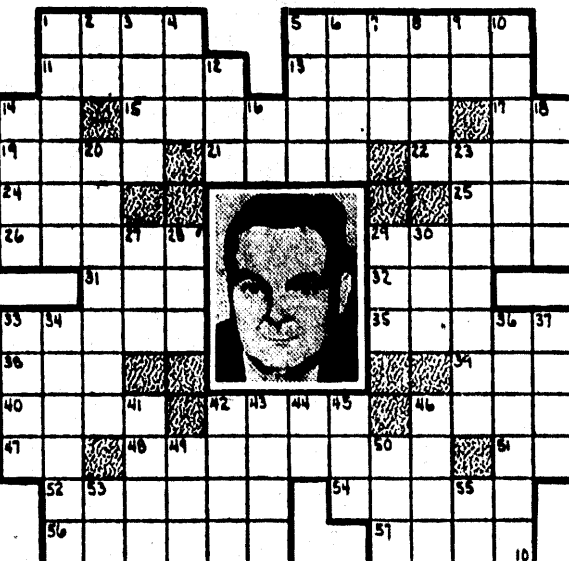

Oil prospects are being stimulated by the only wildcat test in Ouachita parish. It is located and derrick built on the H. H. Coon et al property in Okaloosa school. The test will be drilled by M. W. Shriver Company, and rumor states that it may be drilled to 10,000 feet if necessary. Here's hoping real black gold will be encountered for it is barely more than 14 miles distant from Monroe.

Monroe has new live wire citizens in the persons of Adjutant and Mrs. Charles A. Stafford, the last named new head of the Salvation Army in Monroe. Youth work has been their specialty in the Army and they come to our midst with the highest of recommendations. Their son, C. A. Stafford, Jr., was recently selected to confer with President Truman, together with delegates from 30 states, on matters concerning youth problems. He is now to enter the senior class at Neville and is a boxer and talented as a musician. . . . New honor for Rev. Ernest Duncan Holloway, he's elected moderator of the Presbyterian synod. . . . Dr. F. P. Rizzo told West Monroe Kiwanis some of the humorous situations that confronted him when on the selective service board in New Orleans. . . . The football season has the right of way now. One of the West Monroe dinner clubs had as honor guests, the other day, George Riser, former Ouachita parish coach; Jim Hodgins, Herbert Holliman, and the following squad members, Charles Moore, Bobby Bruce, Jack Smith, Ernest King, and E. J. Sievers.

transferred from his plane to a Greek destroyer at Malta.

This correspondent and Associated Press photographer Frank Noel arrived at the airport shortly before the British Lancaster plane, which left England at 8:05 (12:05 CST), put down on the field.

We were placed under armed detention in headquarters barracks for an hour and 20 minutes, then released approximately 40 minutes after the king had left the airport.

Presumably King George planned to spend the night aboard a destroyer in Salamis Bay before he makes his formal entry into Athens around 10 a. m. tomorrow.

owes them three billion dollars in unpaid obligations, and they're watching closely a new Indian claims commission, authorized recently by congress. The red men hope the president will appoint three men to the commission who will give them "at least a break."

Another sore spot with America's Indians is a law which prohibits the sale of liquor to them. "It's not because we want or crave liquor," the tall, handsome Salish tribesman continues. "It's just because this law is one of many which discriminates against us."

"We have freed the Filipinos, and we have been fair and generous to subjects outside the U. S., but a didactic Indian bureau, with an arbitrary attitude and jammed with red tape, has sought to lead us like children. We want the rights of citizens, not charges."

promised to review the situation, were optimistic.

Rep. Boykin (D-Ala.) said "I'm sure that we'll get a mighty good compromise, or additional funds for flood control."

Those at the White House today discussed only the waterways phases of the economy order. In all, it called for a reduction in spending on public works projects from $1,600,000,000 to $900,000,000.

Besides flood control and navigation, the reduction would affect reclamation, power, rural electrification and highway construction. Proponents of these works also are seeking revision of the economy order.

The congressmen interested in waterways said they favor economy but want the President to make the curtailments evenly among all departments.

"A ceiling of $185,000,000 for 1947 and a limit of $205,000,000 in 1948 as ordered by the executive would wipe out the army engineers who are charged with carrying forward the country's vast river improvement program," Boykin commented.

"Contracts have been drawn for much of this work, and cancellation would cost more in some cases than reduction. It just isn't good business. Besides, many of these projects are in the interest of the country's national security and peacetime welfare."

otherwise he would "take charge." The pilot pretended to agree, he said, but when they reached the hotel lobby he made a lunge at the youth, made him drop his gun and called police.

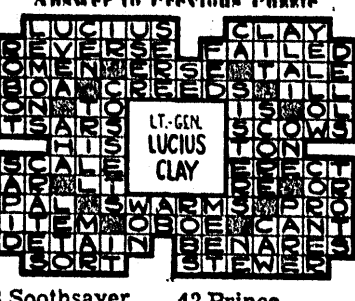

Pollitt himself said he would rather not even discuss the case.

"I feel pretty broken up," he said, "don't even want to talk about it."

"I'm tired. Ask the police about it—they know the whole story. Charges? I don't know. Ask the police. I'm all broken up."

from federally-inspected packers. But the quartermaster general, Maj. Gen. T. B. Larkin, announced that the army is considering purchases from some non-federally-inspected plants—state-inspected packers from which it now buys nothing. Thus the net effect of the order will have on the civilian supply was uncertain.

The army, buying for the other services as well as itself, scaled down its demands from the federally-inspected plants from 15,000,000 pounds to 12,000,000 pounds a week. It had been estimated that the original figure would amount to 25 percent of all the meat handled by these slaughterers. The new order will mean a 12 percent cut in the issue of meat to troops, now .88 of a pound daily per man.

On the political front, the Democratic executive committee's resolution to take up the shortage with the decontrol board, voted before the president announced his stand, was abandoned.

Robert E. Hannegan, party chairman, who was directed by the resolution to consult with the decontrol board and other officials, announced he had decided not to do so after reading the presidential statement and discussing the matter with some committee members.

"As far as I am concerned, it's all over," he remarked.

House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts said he still favors a suspension of meat controls despite the chief executive's opposition. His proposal that controls be lifted for 60 days had drawn support from others in the party as well.

Senator Walsh (D-Mass) urged that the president seize all the meat supplies to insure proper distribution.

On the Republican side, Senator Saltonstall (Mass) joined those demanding removal of controls, declaring it "outrageous" that hospital patients should be deprived of meat. Rep. Rogers (Mass) conferred with navy officials urging them to release some of their supplies temporarily "to tide us over this tremendous emergency."

Mr. Truman had this to offer in his statement yesterday:

"To the extent that livestock is going into feed lots and being fed to higher grades and better weights, the result will be a greater quantity and better quality of meat in the near future than would be the case if there had been a further continuance of the premature marketing of livestock. "Also, the normal run of grass-fed cattle which occurs in the early fall should begin to appear with a consequent improvement of meat supply."

order of union leaders who said the action was a "protective measure" against threats received against continued operation.

Trolleys began service today after dissolution yesterday of an anti-strike injunction, directed against the independent power union but widely opposed in CIO and AFL circles. The buses were scheduled to leave garages this morning but did not.

The strike already has cost the city an estimated loss of $10,000,000 in business, industry and payrolls. At least 70,000 clerical and production workers among 1,500,000 residents in the 817-square-mile affected area were made idle.

The sole hope for relief lay in union President George Mueller's agreement to resume stalemated negotiation conferences with "anybody in authority." But he did not set a time or place for such a meeting.

AIR MAIL RATES ABROAD LOWERED

U. S. Post Office Department
To Establish Uniform Rate
For All Continents

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Air mail rates from the United States to all foreign countries will be slashed about Nov. 1 and a uniform rate for each of the five continents will be established, the post office department disclosed tonight.

will be officially announced during air mail week which begins Nov. 1. In an interview, Sullivan said a uniform rate for each continent will replace the present rate schedules which vary for each country. For example, there are now 17 different rates to South America.

The new rates per half-ounce will be:
To South America 10 cents; to Europe, 15 cents; to South Africa, 25 cents, and to Asia and Australia, 25 cents. North Africa will receive the European rate.

Here are some examples of the projected slashes:
To Stockholm, from 30 to 15 cents a half ounce; to Cairo, from 70 to 15 cents; to Buenos Aires, from 20 to 10 cents; to Auckland, N. Z., from 50 to 25 cents; to Shanghai, from 70 to 25 cents.

WAR TRIAL PRESS PLANS COMPLETED

200 Correspondents Expected
To File Million Words On Nazi Sentences

NUERNBERG, Germany, Sept. 27.—(AP)—More than 200 correspondents from 10 countries are expected to file and broadcast more than a million words during the two days when war crime verdicts and sentences are handed down by the international military tribunal next week.

For the first time since the capitulation, all German radio stations and at least some of those in Austria will be hooked up to carry four daily broadcasts.

In addition the American forces network will broadcast to troops in the occupation zone and four American and one British system have scheduled bulletins and direct broadcasts from the court.

Three commercial concerns—Press Wireless, RCA and Mackay Radio—will be open 24 hours daily, as will the American army signal center and British army signals.

Photographers will take pictures from four shooting positions which will be drawn by lot. All photographs, both still and motion, will be pooled. The tribunal has announced, however, that there will be no photographers allowed in court while sentences are being passed.

Fifteen seats have been set aside in the press gallery for representatives of Dana, American-controlled German news agency. Some of these seats will be rotated between German editors from all zones who will attend at the invitation of the information control division.

Special passes for newspapermen will be issued Sunday. Passes which have been in effect since trials opened will no longer be valid.

Copies of the judgment will be handed reporters in the courtroom when the session opens at 10 a. m. (4 a. m. E. S. T.) Monday, but reporters will be able to file only what actually has been delivered in court at time.

NEGRO BEATING SAID JUSTIFIED

Police Chief Says Treatment
'No Harsher Than Necessary'

BATESBURG, S. C., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Police Chief Lynwood Lanier Shull of Batesburg, charged by the justice department with beating and torturing a Negro war veteran, told newsmen today that he was "no harsher than necessary" to complete the arrest.

The justice department filed a criminal information in federal district court in Columbia, S. C., yesterday alleging that Shull had "beaten and tortured" Isaac Woodard, Jr., of the Bronx, N. Y., last February 12 in violation of the federal civil rights statute.

It further charged that Woodard was "permanently blind as a result of the alleged beating."

Shull explained to reporters that he arrested Woodard at a bus station where he said the Negro was creating a disturbance. He said Woodard apparently had been drinking after being discharged at Augusta, Ga., earlier in the day.

"I hit him across the front of the head," Shull said, "after he attempted to take away my blackjack. I grabbed it away from him and cracked him across the head."

The police chief said Woodard's eyes were swollen the next day when he was brought into recorder's court and sentenced to 30 days or a fine of $50 for disorderly conduct.

Woodard paid the fine. Shull said, and after a doctor suggested he should be taken to a hospital "I drove him" to the veterans' hospital in Columbia. Shull said he reported the incident to the F. B. I. because the Negro was still in uniform and that "after they investigated they told me to keep quiet about it."

He said that later he was questioned by agents of the department of justice.

U. S. Attorney Claud N. Sapp said yesterday in Columbia that the court would notify Shull officially of the filing of the information and set bond for his release until the November term of court.

At New York, Woodard said "I can't feel too good about it" when told of the justice department's action against Shull.

"I have more sympathy for him than he had for me," he told newsmen. "However, I feel that he should be brought to justice."

Also had electric work done in my home and business by Stubbs & Lanham Electric Co. During my business life considerable work has been done by Allbritton Electric Co. All my plumbing has been done by the following union plumbers: Shannon Plumbing Co., Twin City Plumbing Co., Fontana Plumbing Co. My carpentry work done by W. P. Johnson, union laborer. "So I had my place of business painted by a non-union painter once." This man is a good customer of mine and has given me considerable amount of business. I paid this painter above union scale prices, $1.75 per hour. I leave it to the general public, am I fair or unfair? To my estimation the union painters No. 901 shows selfishness in their conduct. They want to hog it all—like Hitler, which we all know, he wanted everything. They don't want their neighbors to make a living.

FORMOSA BOMBING PLEA DISCLAIMED

MacArthur Declares Request
For Preventive Attack Was Never Made

TOKYO, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The long-undercover controversy over destruction of American planes on the ground in the Philippines on the first day of the war prompted a statement today from General MacArthur, who declared he never had heard of a proposal to bomb Formosa preventively and that the air force was doomed anyway.

In any event, MacArthur said, a raid on Formosa could not have succeeded, and "the overall strategic mission of the Philippines command was to defend the Philippines, not to initiate outside attack."

MacArthur broke his silence of nearly five years on the much-gossiped incident of Dec. 8, 1941 (Philippines time), in response to assertions contained in a newly published book, "The Brereton Diaries," by Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, who then commanded U. S. air forces in the Philippines.

According to excerpts received in Tokyo, Brereton wrote that he asked Lt. Gen. Richard K. Sutherland, MacArthur's chief of staff, for permission to attack Formosa, but that authorization was withheld so long his small force of available bombers were destroyed on the ground by a Japanese air raid on Clark Field, 90 miles north of Manila.

Asked for comment on the Brereton book, General MacArthur, now supreme commander of Allied-occupied Japan, issued a 400-word statement. "General Brereton never recommended an attack on Formosa to me and I know nothing of such a recommendation having been made. . . . It must have been of a most nebulous and superficial character, as no official record exists of it at headquarters," MacArthur stated.

MacArthur expressed the opinion that heavily-defended Formosa could not have been attacked successfully without fighter support, which distance prevented, and that "in the short interval of time involved it is doubtful that an attack could have been set up and mounted before the enemy's arrival."

LEGION CONSIDERS BONUS SUGGESTION

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The question of bonuses for veterans of World War II awaits the thousands of American Legionnaires converging here for their 28th annual convention.

About 150,000 members of the legion, its auxiliary and followers are expected to make it the nation's biggest postwar convention, opening Monday. Already before the committee on legislation are two proposals that the legion begin immediate pressure for the payment of bonuses to the service men and women of the recent war.

One resolution urges a bonus at the rate of $60 a month for overseas duty and $30 a month for duty within the United States.

Another proposes that a bonus be granted in sums which would adjust the war-time pay of service personnel to the levels of wages paid by private employers during the war.

These resolutions were among more than 700 sorted and passed to committees by the resolutions assignment committee headed by Thomas J. D. Salter of Las Vegas, Nev. Veteran rehabilitation was the favorite subject, with 296 resolutions dealing with it. There were 30 resolutions on housing. The legion was constructing a prefabricated, two-bedroom model on the lawn before the Veterans Memorial Building, convention headquarters, and it will be shipped to the home town of one of the former service men.

URGES DEFEAT OF DEMOCRATS

Women's Convention Told Party Is Reactionary, Totalitarian

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Defeat of the Democratic ticket in the November elections will be a defeat of the forces of reaction, totalitarianism and misrule in America," says Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican national committee.

"A victory for the Democrat-P. A. C. Communist ticket in November would restore the leftists under (Henry) Wallace and (U. S. Sen. Claude) Pepper (of Florida) to their posts of influence in Washington," Reece told a dinner meeting of delegates attending the 4th biennial convention of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs last night.

"This is no unusual election," Reece declared. "It is a vote for the candidates of the Democrat-P. A. C. Communist alliance is a vote for Wallace and Pepper. . . . and appeasement of Stalin. You may be sure it will be so interpreted in Pravda."

The women, who represent 400,000 G. O. P. club members in 41 states and District of Columbia, end their two-day convention today.

Reece said the recent resignation of Wallace, who openly opposed the present U. S. foreign policy, and "the president's role in this disgraceful episode confirms Republican charges of undue left wing influence." Main business centered today around discussion of "the working woman in the postwar world."

Mrs. Mary Rice Morrow, director of women and children and hours and wages, Pennsylvania department of labor and industry, insisted that "women work for the same reason as men, namely, to support themselves and their families."

"Whether a woman works to pay the rent, to buy bread and meat, to pay the doctor bills, or to provide better education for her children," Mrs. Morrow declared, "or whether because of the casualties of the war she may no longer look to a husband or father for support, her skill and experience are needed in a work-a-day world."

Similar views were expressed by Miss Eunice Hilton, dean of women, Syracuse University; Miss N. Myra Glazier, president of the Sheppard Envelope Co., Worcester, Mass.; Miss Jane Todd, deputy commissioner, New York state department of commerce; and Mrs. Oswald Bates Lord, New York City, chairman of the national civilian advisory committee for the women's army corps.

"Women workers are in an unhappy situation since not only legislation but tradition backed by ignorance is against them," Miss Hilton said, adding that most objections center around "disintegration of the American home, the comparative virtues of American women and foreign women, equal pay for equal work, equal rights and juvenile delinquency."

Miss Glazier asserted that the woman who wants a place in industry can find it.

"Women have a remarkable store of assets for business," she said. "I don't believe they have any physical handicaps comparable to men. I think that in this war they have proved it; they have shown they can take the beating anywhere on the globe that men can."

30 GI FAMILIES TO BE HOUSED

Five Buildings At Selman Field To Be Converted At $58,500 Cost

Efforts of the Veterans Council of Ouachita parish to provide emergency housing for veterans of World War II residing in this parish have finally brought results. Conversion of five buildings at Selman Field into 30 family units has begun.

The Federal Public Housing Authority regional office in Fort Worth, Tex., promised Friday to issue a notice to proceed on the other 43 units allotted to veterans of this parish as soon as it receives releases from the army on the buildings selected for the units.

Work on the 30 units was initiated immediately upon release of buildings 11-4, 11-23, 11-24, 11-25 and 11-40 in the Selman Field project from the leasing, J. H. Gaylord, FHFA's assistant regional director for development and reutilization, explained in a long distance conversation with a member of the veterans council here. He said October 1 had been fixed as the deadline for the construction phase of the veterans emergency housing program.

With the 30 units underway, he said, it would be possible to include the other 43 units after the deadline, if releases from the army had not been received before then.

The 30 units include eight one-bedroom apartments, 14 two-bedroom apartments and eight three-bedroom apartments. The estimated cost of conversion was $58,500.

The work is being done by Barnett Brazier, Alexandria, under terms of a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contract signed July 11. His notice to proceed became effective September 19 and December 17 has been established as the estimated date for the completion of the work.

All of the 30 units are for white veterans. The 19 Negro units will be in buildings upon which releases have not yet been obtained.

Mr. Gaylord said he anticipated no difficulty in obtaining releases on the buildings for the 43 additional units, including those for Negro veterans.

The cost of converting the army buildings into family units is being borne by the FHFA, which will also furnish the apartments from surplus government supplies. The project will be operated by Selman Field Veterans Apartments, Inc., a non-profit corporation recently organized by the veterans council.

The veterans council, which had been agitating for emergency housing for veterans since January, assumed responsibility for the project when the city of Monroe withdrew as sponsor under a ruling by the state attorney general's office that the municipality was without authority to assume obligations for such an enterprise outside of its corporate limits.

OFFICIAL VISIT TO GIRL SCOUTS

Miss Katrine Nickel, Regional Advisor, Is Here For Inspection

Miss Katrine Nickel, regional field advisor of the Girl Scouts, arrived in Monroe Thursday night and will remain until October 1, announced the Alice Stanford, executive-secretary of the Ouachita Parish Girl Scout Council.

The visiting national representative of the Scout organization will hold conferences with local Girl Scout leaders and others in this section of the state. She is to attend the meeting of the Ouachita Parish Girl Scout Council Monday, September 30, 1:30 p. m. She also plans to go to Ruston where leaders of Girl Scouts have applied for a Girl Scout Council charter. After surveying the situation there, Miss Nickel will be in a position to determine the needs of the program, particularly with a view toward advising the feasibility of employing an executive-secretary there.

With headquarters in Memphis, Tenn., Miss Nickel serves as advisor for the Fifth Region of the Girl Scout organization comprising the states of Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi.

Before accepting the national office last year, Miss Nickel had experience in serving as executive-secretary of Girl Scout councils in West Palm Beach, Fla. and Madison, Wis.

Miss Nickel is to be a special guest at a tea given Friday afternoon by the Ouachita Parish Girl Scout Council in honor of leaders of the organization in the home of Mrs. Rodney Cline, program committee chairman of the local Girl Scouts.

ASSEMBLY OF GOD PLANS RALLY DAY

Sunday, September 29, is Rally day at the Assembly of God Sunday School in West Monroe. Rev. J. D. Cockman, pastor of the Full Gospel Tabernacle in St. Louis, Mo., will be the guest speaker. To the one who brings the most students to Sunday School will be given a box of candy as long as the person is tall, the students must be either new or irregular attendants of the Sunday School. Other prizes will be given to others who bring the largest number to Sunday School. If the weather is good a photographer will be there to make pictures of the school.

The pastor, Rev. E. L. Tanner, states they expect a banner day in Sunday School and urges every one to be present and on time at 9:45 a. m. Rev. Cockman will have a message vital to the entire Sunday School.

Army veterinarians have developed a method for "quick freezing" milk so that it can be kept for three months.

ARMY REVEALS IT HAS NO INFO ON MOST FAMOUS GI

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The statistic-saving, record-revering army has the lowdown on 10,000,000 World War II soldiers, but it admitted today that on its most famous member it hasn't a word.

Who is this noted warrior? Why, Kilroy, of course. All over the globe, in the most surprising places, GIs have scrawled the words:

"Kilroy was here."

Who was Kilroy? Whence came he? How spread his fame from camp to camp, from division to division, from continent to continent?

An army major, of the Kilroy research corps, told a reporter there is only one answer to these questions: "Nobody knows."

One version says it started with a Sergeant Kilroy, in a camp in Kansas. He was marked absent from some detail and his name was posted. Indignantly Kilroy scratched out his name and wrote, "Kilroy was here." Soon everyone was scratching.

Another version had Kilroy in the air forces. He was separated from his pal, a fun-loving character. Wherever this fun-loving Joe went he wrote the words, "Kilroy was here," or suitable variations, just for the joy of it. And soon an eager army followed this pioneer.

Whatever his origin, Kilroy became a priceless addition to latrine literature. But he also showed up in highly respectable places. Such as in the Statue of Liberty, and the dome of the nation's capitol.

And what do the real, live Kilroys think of their invisible little namesake?

"We're fed up with him," snorted ex-Sgt. Eugene Kilroy in an interview. "My three brothers and I were all in service. I was in Greenland, John Joseph was in England, Williams was in France, and Raymond, in the navy, was on both sides.

"Man, the stuff we've had to listen to! You can put this down, and you can write it big: "Kilroy was there, and he doesn't like it!"

all my friends who have exhibited kindly thoughtfulness and help in my illness. It is deeply appreciated and as I go away for a short time to recover my health I shall keep them in constant mind and will remember them in my prayers.

Mackenzie's Column

By J. M. Roberts, Jr.
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Trygve Lie's recent assertions regarding his investigative authority as secretary general of the United Nations have opened up a new field of interesting possibilities.

They may forecast a day when the security council will have before it not only the charges and counter-charges of disputing nations, but also a set of independent facts gathered by regular U. N. agents, upon which to base its decisions.

Lie, in connection with the recent security council argument over Greece, said he was reserving the right to make his own investigation. The implications attracted little attention for the moment. There was more interest in the application of what seems to have become a fixed United States policy at Lake Success.

There is a widespread feeling at U. N. headquarters that many issues presented to the council have a pure propaganda objective; that in this case Russia was less interested or hopeful about a decision than in the council's qualities as a sounding board. So the U. S. fell back on its regular tactic of agreeing to every proposed investigation, but with the proviso that it should be all-inclusive and not merely directed at hand-picked incidents. The limelight became too bright and the Slav bloc backed off without a decision.

But another field was opened. Under the U. N. charter, the secretary general is authorized to call to the council's attention any matter which threatens peace. Since he must first determine that there is such a threat, the general interpretation of the clause is that investigative power is inherent.

This might mean that Lie could send his assistants to Greece, Yugoslavia and Albania and, on the basis of their findings, present the whole thing to the council again.

Of course much would depend upon how his agents were received at the other end. Nobody knows just what might happen if his power to send investigators clashed with the sovereign powers of individual U. N. members to keep them out. Suppose Lie's men should find the trail leading them toward England and Russia as the sources of pressure which is causing the trouble and decide to visit them? It is easy to see that the principle is one thing and its application another. (Lie's own words: "I have to be careful not to make the situation worse" are, of course, his assurance that silk gloves are the mode of the moment.)

But the underlying possibility of expert non-political investigations of international affairs, with the secretary general appearing before the council as a friend of the court and giving it cold facts rather than political charges on which to work, opens up some real vistas for the time when true collaboration for peace may supplant the present jockeying for the propaganda spotlight.

'DOGGIES' TO BE ON EXHIBITION

Show and Parade Is Scheduled For Monroe On Saturday

The 1946 dog show and parade will be held here Saturday. The parade will form on the St. John street side of the Central Grammar School at 1:30 p. m. and will proceed at 2 p. m. as follows: North on St. John street to DeSiard; east on DeSiard to Catalpa; south on Catalpa to Harrison street; west on Harrison street to Jackson street, to the campus of Central Grammar School. Incidentally it is required that all dog owners bring rabies certificate for the protection of the public.

Immediately upon return to the school, participants will assemble around the banner denoting the class in which their dog is entered.

In the formal program that is to be presented, A. C. Smith will be program chairman and N. A. Dozier Jr., program secretary.

The first number on the program will be the presentation of speakers who will be Mayor H. H. Benoit, Mayor D. C. Golson, and Dr. H. H. Baur, dog week national chairman.

Next will be presentation of judges who comprise Dr. H. H. Baur, Dr. R. M. Einhorn, and Dr. H. E. Carver.

In the judging there will be 12 classes:

- Class No. 1, the dog with the longest tail, in which, as with all other classes, there will be three places, for the first, second and third prizes.
- Class No. 2 will be for the dog with the shortest body.
- Class No. 3 will be for the dog with the longest body.
- Class No. 4 will be for the ugliest dog.
- Class No. 5 will be for the prettiest dog.
- Class No. 6, the heaviest dog.
- Class No. 7, the tallest dog.
- Class No. 8, the smallest dog.
- Class No. 9, the smartest dog.
- Class No. 10, the oldest dog.
- Class No. 11, the best dressed dog.
- Class No. 12, the best dog of the show.

Closing remarks will be made by the chairman.

FIVE YOUTHS FINED

Five youths, accused of participating in a fight at Elliott's bar on Sterlington road, were each fined $25 and costs or 25 days in jail by City Judge W. M. Harper in a session of state court at the parish court house yesterday.

The youths were Morgan H. Brachwell, Aubrey Roller, Lucien Eldridge, Henry Hammons, and Robert Allen. Mitchell Green, Negro, was given 60 days in jail on a theft charge.

MEDICAL BILL UNDER ATTACK

Dr. Rizzo Tells Club That Passage Would Mean Regimentation

Dr. Frank P. Rizzo, former army colonel in World War Two, was the guest speaker at the Lions Club in West Monroe Thursday night. He was introduced by W. L. Harker, program chairman.

Dr. Rizzo told in an introductory talk, some of the humorous features encountered when he was an official in selective service before he went overseas. The burden of his talk, however, was in attacking the provisions of the Wagner-Murray-Bingle bill which is now before congress.

This measure, popularly termed an act to impose socialized medicine on the public, was declared to be unwise and to comprise a decided step forward toward regimentation of the public along socialized lines.

Guests present were Mack Avants, former Ouachita parish football coach;

P. E. Massey, H. E. Jenkins, Mrs. W. L. Harker, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson, Dr. J. E. Caldwell, Jack Greenhaw and Dr. Ralph Einhorn.

RAILROAD SLATES PROBE OF WRECK

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—(P)—Union Pacific officials today scheduled an investigation of the wreck of a fast, westbound passenger train near Victorville, Calif., yesterday which brought instant death to six persons and injuries to more than 30 others.

The engine, tender, baggage car and five passenger and dining cars of the crack Transcon were derailed in a narrow cut beside a river, blocking both Union Pacific and Santa Fe tracks.

Three women were killed in the washroom of a day coach. Bodies of two men and a Negro porter were found near the washroom of another coach.

Malaria is one of the oldest known diseases of mankind.
